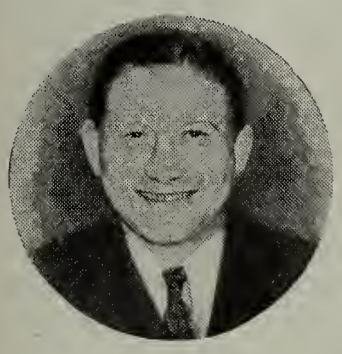
"The Coin Machines Merry-Go-Round"

By Bill Gersh



NEWSPAPER PUBLICITY

One of the most outstanding and greatest fears of coinmen has always been, and still is, adverse publicity. This has always proven itself the forerunner for crusades to close territories. For years there has been one movement after another hopefully suggested and a few even launched to somehow arrange for public relations counsel as well as a program of public relations work which would benefit all this industry.

There is every apparent reason to believe that the trade realizes this is the great gap which exists like a chasm between its attempt at greater growth and the fact that a great many members of the press, who know that no public relations organization exists for this industry, write about this trade with no restraint whatsoever.

It is also a well known fact that almost every industry, regardless of size, has public relations counsellors at work for them. At conventions or even at regular meetings these public relations men take over the handling of the press and all publicity which may emanate from such meets. This industry, too, in by-gone years has arranged for a press relationship committee of sorts for its annual conventions.

In Washington these days are found extremely elaborate public relations offices for almost every industry, carefully watching and guiding their trade's press relationships. (These offices are not concerned, in most cases, with lobbyist activities for these same trades.) This is one great and crying need for this business. This need was most clearly emphasized at the last CMI meeting in Chicago by more than one noted leader who arose to speak of its necessity.

Here is a story of what closer relationship with the press can mean to the men engaged in this business. A Miami, Florida phonoman mails a tear sheet from the local Miami Daily News with a headline that reads, "Juke Box Owners Pay In Taxes For The Noise They Cause".

The article is both humorous and yet sympathetic. It explains to Miami's citizenry the inequitable phono tax situation existing at present in Dade County. It also explains why the average phono operator in Miami must be somewhat of a magician to earn profit at the end of the year.

It reports incidents whereby machines have been smashed. It tells the story of the drunken brawler rather clearly and explains how he can break up an expensive phonograph. It travels from a low to a high plane of the coinphonos business and yet it maintains a thoroly humorous and sympathetic theme at all times. This newspaper article has probably done more good for Miami's music coinmen than any other which has ever appeared in that area.

But, there is a very interesting story behind this story which appeared in the Miami Daily News. This is a pert example of keen business judgment as well as the moral of being prepared for all eventualities by the phono coinmen of Miami.

When these men heard the first inkling of rumor that some newspaper reporter had been around asking questions regarding the "juke box" business they hurriedly made contact. They arranged to have this newspaper man call at their offices and get his information first hand. In short, they wanted to help him prepare his story so that their side of the picture would be fairly presented for all Miami to read.

Within a few hours after making contact they learned that this story was going to do them anything but good. They found that this reporter had suddenly decided that this was the time to take a good solid punch at the "juke box kings". And so Miami's coinmen worked fast. They got this reporter into their offices. They sat him down and held a congenial conversation of facts in an effort to fully cooperate with him.

They placed the entire story of their business before him and found him to be, like most reporters are, very fair about obtaining true facts. They not only thereby stopped adverse publicity, which might have stirred some publicity seeking politicos and without any doubt a goodly number of blue-nosed crusaders who, too, are in love with the press limelight, especially if a crusade is started by a newspaper itself, but they won this man over to their side after a complete and true analysis of their position in Miami.

Instead of hysterically incorrect adverse publicity appearing - there now appeared this humorous and somewhat sympathetic story which helped benefit all of Miami's phono coinmen. There is no doubt that this is the sort of effort that all coinmen generally would like to have done for them, too. This is really a job for a keen and experienced public relations bureau.

This work, in this case, was accomplished by some of the real leaders of this industry located in Miami, who benefitted all the men in this area, and perhaps thruout the entire South, by squelching a story which would have hurt everyone.

But most important to the trade is the moral back of this little frustrated crusading newspaper plan - and that is that this industry, more than ever before, because it is entering into the post-war era, when its growth and development should not be hampered and any and all stumbling blocks removed from its path, should arrange thru its manufacturers, distributors, jobbers and operators to set up a public relations bureau which would benefit all this business.

A small part of the item which appeared in the Miami Daily News will certainly prove of interest to all. It reads:

> "The cost of a location or a place where a machine is spotted is naught. They are operated on a percentage basis. Next, we have a little matter of taxes or licenses. Did we say little matter? To the operators it is no such thing. It is, to quote one irate gent, 'an impolite form of robbery'.
> "Before an operator can toss a tune he must pay five license fees. First comes the general operators license, viz., $110. Then $10. to the Federal government, $7.50 to the county and state and $20. to the city of Miami. (Miami Beach charges an even $50.)
> "Now the average profit of a phono is $6. per month. And the average life of a machine is four years - meaning the ones that drunks do not toss a chair or axe at. The cost of a tune is 5¢, one of the few things that have not risen like the Ohio River at floodtime. Each machine has 20 to 24 records. These records do not grow on either kumquat or citrus trees in general. They wear out, which probably accounts for the insanity ratio in Miami and adjacent parts not being higher. Especially among lovers of Strauss, Bach and Wagner."

And so the item carries on, giving pertinent facts, a cartoon that shows a machine being smashed by a drunk, and telling why Miami's phonomen must comply with the most stringent and economical business methods to continue on in this business. Certainly the trade will agree that these Miami phonomen, who were on their toes and rapidly arranged for a complete changeover from a crusading adverse publicity story to a pleasant reading, humorous and even sympathetic item - showed all this industry sufficiently good reason for the need of a public relations bureau.

Such a bureau has long been suggested by The Cash Box as an integral and perhaps chief division of a National Coin Machines Board of Trade.

HONORABLE MENTION AWARD

To Carl E. Johnson of The Rudolph Wurlitzer Company, North Tonawanda, N.Y., for helping to bring great honor to this industry by his firm obtaining an additional star to its present Army and Navy "E" Award. It was Carl Johnson's stimulating efforts which urged the employees of this organization onward to winning this star.

To David Gottlieb of D. Gottlieb & Company, Chicago, Ill., for his efforts in behalf of this industry in attempting to bring about better understanding and finer business effort as well as working hard as president of the CMI to get this trade prepared for the time when business will face its grandest future.

THE INVASION EFFECT ON THIS INDUSTRY

Tho it is really as yet too early to note what effect the invasion has had upon this industry, many letters and phone calls have already been received by The Cash Box asking for an opinion in this matter.

There is no doubt that when the news of the invasion (June 6) was first flashed over the air that a great many stopped short in their work. And even more felt that whatever they were doing at the moment should be dropped, if it were non-essential, and that all out effort be given to the boys who were attempting to breach the Hitlerian fortress.

This was most glaringly noted in the sports field thruout the nation. All racing was cancelled. Other sports stopped short. Many boxing matches and other types of athletic meets scheduled for that day were called off by the participants as well as the promoters.

In short, as was noted by many, there was a feeling that no gaiety of any kind be encouraged until the nation's leaders were certain that the allied forces were safely established on their beach head and progressing forward inland.

Spending sometime on the long distance phone, The Cash Box made a rapid survey of what the effect of the invasion may have had on location action. The reports that came thru were to the effect that instead of any decrease in location action there was even an increase reported here and there and that in most cases the average held up.

Some claimed that this was due to the fact that many of their locations were crowded with listeners waiting to hear flash news and eager to join into conversations regarding the invasion. This stimulated action on phonos and games, was the general claim. Others stated that some of their locations were quiet, but that the average showed no serious drop.

As yet we repeat, it is entirely too early to learn what the effect of the invasion may have on this or any other industry for that matter. The stock market here and abroad showed a jump in all stocks on the report of the invasion. Many merchandise buyers were reported to have suddenly curtailed large future purchases, holding off in the belief that there may be no need for ersatz or "victory" materials, for a successful invasion might loosen up much production within a few months. Manufacturers were prepared to see plants go idle, just as suddenly as the Brewster plane factory lost its work without sufficient time notice and threw thousands out of jobs.

Perhaps, as far as this industry is concerned, the following excerpts from an item written by Arthur Daley of The New York Times Sport Department best symbolizes what can be held to be in store for this industry.

> "Once the stunning impact of the invasion news has worn off, that phase of the war will settle down in public consciousness and be accepted in more matter-of-fact fashion. Then there will not be the same irresistible urge to glue ear to radio for last minute bulletins and human nature will again demand entertainment as a distraction from war."

CARLOADINGS

Always of interest to this coin operated machines industry is the report of the Association of American Railroads. For the week ending June 3, 1944, this organization reported that loadings of revenue freight for that week were 810,772 cars. This was 59,088 cars, or 7.3 percent, fewer than for the preceding week; 143,163 cars or 21.4 percent, more than for the corresponding week last year, and 43,917 cars, or 5.1 percent, fewer than during the corresponding week two years ago. A decrease was also reported in all classes of commodities carried by freight.

A few years ago the industry was worried as to whether coin operated equipment would continue to be carried by the railroads. At that time many predicted that this would cease very soon. The fact is that not only have coin operated machines continued to be accepted, but with decreases in freight being reported week after week, the freight companies are again expected to be calling around on those coin firms who have always been among the steadiest of shippers.

TRAVEL CURTAILED

With the fact that great demands will be made on the nation's railroads because of the European invasion the ODT (Office of Defense Transportation) demand that all civilian travel of a non-essential nature be halted. Unless this warning is observed it is likely to result in a definite order.

In addition ODT demanded immediate cancellation of all non-war connected conventions, trade meetings and conferences. ODT also announced that the House and Senate Appropriations Committees will be asked to take firm measures to effect immediate curtailment of travel by Government employees. As a result of the invasion, it is believed, organized troop movements, combined with greater casualty transportation, may reach record proportions.

The Cash Box does not believe it is necessary to again remind the members of this industry how important it is to them, as Americans, to buy more War Bonds during this 5th War Loan Drive. Coinmen know that the purchase of War Bonds is an investment in patriotism. The Cash Box feels certain that every man and woman in this industry, because he or she are patriotic Americans, will buy and buy and buy — and then buy more War Bonds.

SATISFYING CUSTOMERS

Ed Brown of Dallas, Texas, who is also one of the largest cigarette machines men in the country sends us a postcard that he is mailing to all of his locations. The postcard reads as follows:

"Dear Customer: Here is some interesting information fresh off the long distance phone this morning in regard to the current cigarette shortage.

"The biggest single order in cigarette history was recently placed with one manufacturer — 35 carloads — by the government and this was in addition to the regular government standing orders.

"To help our armed forces in all parts of the world cigarettes are going abroad at the rate of about 3½ cartons per week per soldier.

"Undoubtedly the good old U. S. type of cigarette — the kind you and I and our customers smoke — buy more favors and service in occupied countries than our money will buy.

"Discontented smokers should read this over a second time!"

SPEEDY SERVICE PLEASES

"I wish to personally thank you for your cooperation in helping us locate a set of pay-out slides for a Paces Races. It was only a few days ago that we asked your assistance, and only after all other means of locating these parts had been exhausted.

"We received a reply from one of your subscribers, stating they had seen our ad in the June 13th issue of The Cash Box and that they could furnish us with the parts we needed.

"This is what I call good service in any man's country, and I want to let you know I appreciate this kind of service."

Washington Amusement Co., Tacoma, Wash.
Louis DiDenti, owner

"P.S. (Incidentally, we had not as yet received our June 13th issue and naturally were surprised at the promptness of a reply.)"

AN APOLOGY

We feel that an apology is due to a great many who sent ads in an attempt to get these into the June 20 (Second Anniversary Issue) of The Cash Box and did not see their ads appear in that issue.

The reason, in every case, was that the ads arrived too late to be placed into that issue. As notified over a four week period, the closing second for all ads for this Second Anniversary Issue was 5 P.M., June 8, 1944 on a Thursday, instead of the usual Friday at 5 P.M.
